Churchville Lions,
It looks like we had another successful Country Fair this year despite the monsoon that went through on Saturday night. Thanks to all Lions who put in a lot of hours setting up, running and tearing down the fair. A special thanks to the fair committee for doing a tremendous job. I have heard a lot of comments on how good the fair was and the layout got some excellent comments also. Early reports on the profit show that we met our expected goals.

The Fair Appreciation Picnic to thank all who worked on the fair is on September 09 at the Maher Lodge. Please contact Lion Cyndie Giali at 395-0482 or cynthia.giali@kodak.com as soon as possible with your reservations. Also please contact any non-Lions that worked at the fair.

We also need as many volunteers as possible on the weekend of October 1 and 2 to go to Camp Badger to install the new roof. The estimate that Lion George received to install a new roof is in excess of $6,000. We can save nearly $2,500 by doing the installation ourselves. If you know of any Lions or non-Lions that have roofing and construction experience that would like to help please get their names to Lion George Beldue at 594-2103.

Yours in Lionism,
Lion Jim Van Hoesen

To the Churchville Lions,

The phrase "What goes round comes round" has mostly been used in a negative sense. We use it to tell our children that when bad things come our way through others it will inevitable return to them. It also condemns poor behavior through a mild curse.

Today I am able to return loving care that has been gifted me through my 88 year old and Aunt and Uncle. They were the only parents that I knew while growing up. While I didn't live with them they were always there for me when I faced some of Life's most difficult challenges. They comforted me when I was overwhelmed by the chaos and helped me make the right decisions when I could not sort out facts from adversity.

Last year they were hit hard by the hurricanes in Vero Beach and they have decided to move back North to be near family and friends. During this transitional period I would not be able to give them the physical comfort that they need without your help. Your Community Closet is a Godsend. I can now offer them some of the safety and comfort that they have afforded me over the years.

So now you can see that "What goes round comes round" isn't all negative. You are the reason that I will be able to offer loving emotional comfort and support as well as support they need for their physical well-being.

Bless you all,
Carol Confino

Dear George,

Thank you so very much for helping my two dear friends. Rita Concannon would be in a nursing home without her bed, loaned by the Lions Club. Her new glasses, thanks to Bob DeNormand have improved her vision a great deal. She's since learned she has macular degeneration on top of her heart problems, epilepsy, and rheumatoid arthritis.

Wayne told me that his hospital bed is fantastic and very comfortable. It was so kind of the Lions to help these folks out. They are most grateful. Please share their appreciation with your fellow Lions.

May God continue to bless and guide all the generous work all the Lions perform.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth

VALENTINE DUCK

A woman brought a very limp duck into a veterinary surgeon. As she lay her pet on the table, the vet pulled out his stethoscope and listened to the bird's chest. After a moment or two, the vet shook his head sadly and said, "I'm so sorry, your pet has passed away." The distressed owner wailed, "Are you sure?" "Yes, I'm sure. The duck is dead," he replied. "How can you be so sure", she protested. "I mean, you haven't done any testing on him or anything. He might just be in a coma or something." The vet rolled his eyes, turned around and left the room. He returned a few moments later with a black Labrador Retriever. As the duck's owner looked on in amazement, the dog stood on his hind legs, put his front paws on the examination table and sniffed the duck from top to bottom. He then looked at the vet with sad eyes and shook his head. The vet patted the dog and took it out and returned a few moments later with a beautiful cat. The cat jumped up on the table and also sniffed the bird from its beak to its tail and back again. The cat sat back on its haunches, shook its head, meowed softly, jumped down and strolled out of the room. The vet looked at the woman and said, "I'm sorry, but as I said, this is most definitely, 100% certifiably, a dead duck." Then the vet turned to his computer terminal, hit a few keys, and produced a bill, which he handed to the woman. The duck's owner, still in shock, took the bill. "$150!" she cried. "$150 just to tell me my duck is dead?!!" The vet shrugged. "I'm sorry. If you'd taken my word for it, the bill would have been $20. But with the Lab Report and the Cat Scan, it adds up."
